SUSQUEHANNA DEPOT March 29—Citizens have telegraphed Gov Hartranft, a remonstrance against the introduction of armed troops into the borough in the interest of a corporation against the citizens who simply claim their hard-earned wages from the corporation. They fear that great destruction of property will result, and pray that the order be countermanded. The Governor replied that though he might sympathize, as an individual, yet he must execute the laws which forbid the seizure by creditors, of property especially when the property is a great public highway. He had ordered troops to repair to the scene and had instructed their commander to enforce the laws if violated. If unfortunate results followed the responsibility would rest with the transgressors against the laws.

SUSQUEHANNA DEPOT March 30—President Clark and a committee of strikers but refused further on ... The Company intend to start all trains to-day under protection of the military. INDEPENDENT PRIMARY AT FAIRFIELD.

FAIRFIELD March 28 1874.

To the Editor of the Oregonian

Here in Fairfield the Independent sentiment is already overwhelmingly strong and it is gaining every day. We held an Independent primary this evening. The meeting was called to order by Hon Ben F Harding who in a few brief but vigorous words stated the object of the convention. G B Miller was requested to take the chair, but he declined on account of illness. Joseph Unthank was then chosen Chairman, and P G Magness Secretary.

The following named gentlemen were duly elected delegates to the Marion County Independent Convention: P G Magness, P Foos and J N Skaife. The delegates were instructed to go for men regardless of party. This was because the people mean reform.

Among those prominent in the meeting were Hon. B. F Harding, Rev D M Kean, G B Miller, P G Magness, J N Skaife, P Foos, Wm Millsapps, D Provost, J Byrne, Wm Williams, C Mackie, C Byrd, Wm Byrd, M Smith, Michael Finnigan.

And now just while I think of it the Democrats of French Prairie have not forgotten a nice little speech made by Governor Grover just about four years ago now in which he told us that we were taxed to death that we were being plundered and robbed by the Republican party. All this we believed and we believe it yet. But then he told us to vote the Democratic ticket, elect a working majority to the legislature and elect him Governor and then we would return to the good old times of paying an 8 or 9 mill tax. Now Mr Editor, what we want is a Democratic chemist who can compound the essence of that little speech with the tincture of the Governor's elegant pet, the increase of Sheriffs and Clerks fees and Judges salaries and administer the whole to a Democratic pup with its eyes yet unopen without producing hydrophobia.

I tell you, Mr Editor, we want reform. We are no less Democrats to-day than we were four years ago. But we have not been able to see any reduction in taxes for then we paid about one half as much tax as now.

AN OLD-LINE DEMOCRAT.

This little poem of Dr Holland's—one of the best specimens of his concentrated earnestness and indignation—is even more timely now than when it was written for the Springfield Republican in 18[illegible] when popular politicians led those who sit too near the inner motives and the secret actions of men to utter almost the despairing cry of a new dispensation.

God give us men! a time like this demands
Strong minds great hearts true faith and ready hands
Men whom the lust of office does not kill
Men whom the spoils of office cannot buy
Men who possess opinions and a will
Men who have honor—men who will not lie
Men who can stand before a demagogue
And damn his treacherous flatteries without winking
Tall men sun-crowned who live above the fog
In public duty and in private thinking
For while the rabble with their thumb worn creeds
Their large professions and their little deeds—
Mingle in selfish strife, lo! Freedom weeps
Wrong rules the land and waiting Justice sleeps

SAN FRANCISCO March 30—Steamer [illegible] with the [illegible] and [illegible] are coming up the harbor.

SENATOR CAMERON WANTS TO GO AWAY AND WEEP.—When the question came up this afternoon in the Senate upon which should be taken up the Centennial bill or Carpenter's Cameron arose and said that he thought that they ought to take up the Centennial bill as he had remained in the Senate under a peculiar stress of circumstances, and thought that he ought to be thus rewarded for his devotion to his State. A dear friend of his had lost a 12-year old boy, and he had desired to go and mingle his tears with that of his friend over the lad's grave, but a stern sense of duty had kept him in the Senate. This learned body hardened in its sinful ways, was so little moved by this touching display of feeling upon the part of the venerable Senator that it fairly snickered in his face, and one old apoplectic Senator huskily exclaimed' Crocodile! brother dear, as the Senate calmly swept Cameron's unshed tears and all off from the Senatorial deck in order to make way for Carpenter with his speech. I have never been so shocked by the callousness of the Senate to all sentiment as I was at this revolting incident.—Wash Cor Pittsburg Leader, March 5th.

NEVADA.

EUREKA, March 30—The stage due from Hamilton at 6 o'clock yesterday evening did not arrive until 11 A M to-day owing to the almost impassable quantities of snow on the road. In some places the snow is said to have reached the depth of fourteen feet and before the coach could get through the track had to be prepared with the aid of shovels in the hands of passengers and driver alternately. Yesterday the accumulation of snow caused several roofs to fall in. The greatest damage was done to Eureka Hall, where the accumulation of snow on the immense roof made the walls bow and spread, causing the rafters to slip from their rests and fall to the ground. The roof was so well trussed and braced that it did not come into pieces in the fall. None of the rafters were broken, except at extreme end, where a few of them were splintered.

The Elko stage arrived to-day after a forty eight hours' trip. The stage that left Palisade yesterday afternoon will probably not reach here until some time to-morrow morning.

Progress of the Temperance War in Albany.

ALBANY March 30—The usual Sunday evening services in the various churches of this city were omitted last night, for the purpose of allowing the pastors and congregations to participate in a large and enthusiastic union temperance meeting, to be held in the court house. The large and commodious court-room and gallery were filled to overflowing. Addresses were made, hymns sung and prayers offered. The meeting broke up a late hour and will be repeated again to night, the Pacific Opera House being secured for the purpose. The Ladies are preparing for a crusade against the saloons.

In the Circuit Court on Saturday night James Shirts was found guilty of manslaughter. Shirts, it will be remembered, killed a man who had just murdered a brother of Shirts at Sweet Home Valley, last fall.

Weather fine and spring like.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Political Ferment in British Columbia.

LA CONNER, W T March 30—Barkersville advices of the 25th received to-day say a large and influential meeting was held at the Theater Royal last night, at which resolutions were unanimously passed endorsing the policy of the late Provincial Parliament, also condemning the attempt made by a number of inhabitants of Victoria to intimidate members of the Legislature there. The Rev Mr Hall offered the following resolution

That, taking into consideration the fact that no quartz ledges have yet been worked in the district although it is well known that many exist and there is a general belief that they will eventually prove a great source of wealth it is the opinion of this meeting viewing the heavy expense developing their riches that the Government of British Columbia should offer a substantial bonus of $50,000 to the discoverers of a ledge which shall be prospected to a depth of 200 feet and shall be proven to be a well paying ledge and that another bonus of $20,000 should be offered to any person or company who shall erect a 10 stamp quartz crushing mill near to such mine.

The resolution was adopted unanimously. Mr Hall made a very able speech in support of his resolution pointed out the great benefits which the movement would eventually derive from such arrangement.

Mr Monroe offered the following

Resolved That it affords us great pleasure to congratulate our senior member the Hon Geo A Walkem on his recent accession to the Premiership of this Province and we desire to convey the assurance of our unbounded confidence in his political integrity.

The resolution was carried without a dissenting voice.

Wilson then read and [illegible] the following resolution condemning the action of the Post office authorities in prohibiting the conveyance of bullion and gold dust in Her Majesty's mail thereby causing a loss to this District of fifteen thousand dollars per annum and also a loss of revenue of four thousand dollars yearly and directing that our Representative [illegible] all in his power to obtain redress for our grievance by placing them in their proper light before the Postoffice authorities and also by taking action in Parliament as he shall deem most suitable to obtain that redress.

Thompson taking for granted that on account of the ballot to-day he would be declared Representative of this District addressed the meeting stating he would do his utmost to obtain the desired redress.

H M Ball returning officer declared the result of the election for Representative Cariboo District in the House of Commons of Canada as follows: Thompson 192, Walkem 40. Giving Thompson a majority of 152.

Thompson leaves by express to-day for Ottawa.

MARION COUNTY CORRESPONDENCE

AGRICULTURAL—MORAL—POLITICAL

[CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN]

SILVERTON March 28 1874

The pure air, the gentle breeze and the bright sunshine at this early season of the year are most enjoyable. The farmers at their plow, the woodmen with their axes, the women in their gardens and the occasional invalid in short walks feel the cheering and invigorating influence of such a delightful atmosphere as has prevailed for the last two weeks. Persons of extensive experience in the state say that they do not remember a more favorable spring for many years. Should it continue for two or three weeks longer the spring wheat will be extensively planted and under circumstances calculated to produce a large crop.

THE GERMAN SETTLEMENT AT AURORA

It is a place that a person can visit with satisfaction at all times. From March to November it is a rich treat, and a source of great pleasure to those living in the city. There are profitable lessons to be learned there by those willing to be taught by the experience of others. The extensive and highly cultivated gardens and grounds are open to visitors and social parties at all reasonable hours, free of charge. The hotel provides the most comfortable meals at very moderate rates—not surpassed in the State. It is not how little and cheap articles they can provide for their guests it is a profusion of the choicest, cooked in the best manner and presented in the most attractive style.

The colony have 15,000 acres of land the greater part of which was thickly timbered. There are now 25 farms from 160 to 640 acres each most cleared, well cultivated, with good dwelling and other houses and gardens showing much taste and refinement. The farmers are models of industry and live on the fat of the land. There are about 400 men women and children in the colony. Two hundred of them reside in the village of Aurora and the other 200 on the farms.

The village is a hive of industry. There are all kinds of machine and tradesmen's shops and stores to meet the wants of the settlement. The water power runs their saw and planing mill, grist mill and woolen mill. It is safe to state that there is not in the State a more industrious, prosperous, comfortable or happier class of people than those comprising this colony. They have a large church, a good school and band of music and plenty of out door amusements in the summer evenings. They supply

A PRACTICAL ARGUMENT IN FAVOR OF THE TEMPERANCE REFORM,

Which is now taking such a strong hold of the public mind. There is not a saloon or beer shop in the colony. There has not been seen a drunk person connected with the colony for ten years, there has not been a quarrel or a case of improper conduct brought before the Justice of the Peace during the same period; there is not a policeman required, every one is his neighbor's keeper. The colony is founded on Christian brotherhood and is beautifully exemplified in the daily life of the members. The Rev Dr Keil is the founder of the colony. He has lately given a convincing proof of his integrity and benevolent character. The title to the property of the colony was all in his name as President of the Trustees. Feeling that at his age he might be soon called away to prevent any litigation, and to secure the harmony and unity of the colony after his decease, he has with the advice and consent of the other Trustees given to each member of the colony a legal title to his farm house or other property as the case may be, so that while the letter and spirit of the colony is maintained in its integrity, each member of it owns his own place and can dispose of it when he pleases. There is not a man or woman or class of the same—laborer mechanic artisan manufacturer farmer housekeeper hotel keeper store keeper magistrate, politician, statesman school teacher clergyman Christian or philanthropist that cannot be profited by visiting and studying the principles and workings of this German colony. If they mark learn and inwardly digest what they can see and know, a great revolution can be accomplished in our cities towns villages and country generally.

THE ADVANTAGES OF GOOD DRAINAGE

Where required is seen on French Prairie. That beautiful prairie lies very flat and holds the rain long after it has ceased falling and thereby prevents early plowing for spring wheat and oats. A number of the more enterprising farmers there have been draining for the last two years. The results are that fifty bushels of oats are raised where only [illegible] were secured on the same soil before being drained. The same is applicable to wheat [illegible]

Howell Prairie, one of the best in the Willamette Valley for its size lies high and dry. The consequences are that the fall wheat is far advanced and the spring wheat nearly all sown while in French Prairie the majority of the farmers are just commenced plowing. The farmers are in good spirits the preparations for extensive sowing are far ahead of 1873 the cultivation of the soil is greatly improved raising volunteer crops are almost entirely abandoned and the prospects of an abundant harvest are very encouraging.

is a fine farming district of country. The farmers are prosperous; the country is well watered by the mountain streams and the foothills are well adapted for stock. The town of Silverton is barely holding its own. There are two good general stores that do a large business and a few good private residences a number of mechanics and tradesmen's shops and a grist mill. Silver creek supplies [illegible] abundant water power but it is very partially made available. Taking into consideration the fine farming district the general prosperity of the farmers and the important water power, Silverton would be a large progressive town and an important manufacturing center if there was not a fault somewhere.

WALDO HILLS

Is an extensive district of country. It extends fourteen miles north and south and seven miles east and west. The northeastern part for ten miles is a strip of rolling prairie lands interspersed with belts of timber and well watered that excel in high productive soil excellent grass and delightful scenery. It is well settled by a class of industrious and successful farmers who have built for themselves good houses and comfortable homes. Good farmers can raise from twenty five to forty bushels of wheat to the acre. Improved farms sell from $15 to $30 per acre. Lands at or near the foot hills sell for $5 to $10 an acre. It is best adapted for sheep both as to climate grass and water of any part of the Willamette valley. The southern district of the Waldo Hills is very hilly and heavily timbered in some parts but it is capable of cultivation. The bottom lands are rich but need draining to be profitable.

THE POLITICAL SITUATION

Is one of great interest in prospect of the state election in June. There never was a period in the history of Oregon when men spoke more freely and boldly and feel so independently of all political parties as at the present time. This arises from the keen observation of the general corruption of the national and State governments, the mercenary character of politicians, the corrupting and despotic power of the leading railroad and other corporations and therefore the absolute necessity of clearing out those corrupt men and controlling those who are building up a system of political despotism more corrupt, arbitrary and selfish than any known in Europe. The irrepressible conflict between political slavery and freedom is as surely inaugurated and will be as certainly successful in the overthrow of the former as was the downfall of personal slavery in 1865.

As a matter of course, each partisan speaks confidently of his ticket winning. At this distance of time from the election no candid person can speak confidently on the subject. The contest of the election will be a contest of men and not of party. If the Independents put honest and capable men on their county and state tickets they have an equal chance if not better than the ring Republicans or Democrats. The battle and the victory will be on the side of good and true men. The country is ready to rally under the leadership of such men who fear God and love their country, will come to the front. Let every citizen who loves his family, his country and humanity, stand up for good men of a patriotic spirit, and all will be well for our country yet.

INDEPENDENT PRIMARY AT BUTTEVILLE

At an Independent Primary Convention held at Butteville Marion county Oregon the following named persons were elected delegates to the Marion county Convention to be held at Salem April 4 1874: D J Pendleton, W H Reese and J D J Blevans.

The following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted

WHEREAS The Constitution of the State of Oregon has been disregarded and overridden by the Legislative and Executive Departments by increasing our state debt to a sum far above the constitutional limit and

WHEREAS The oppressive taxes levied upon us are so grievous that we are sore of head, heart and hand; and

WHEREAS We have lost all faith in the integrity of politicians [illegible] being able to redeem [illegible] promises [illegible] made to them; and

WHEREAS The prayers and memorials of the people sent up to the Legislature entreating relief from the evil have been totally disregarded and unheeded as were the petitions of the oppressed colonists by The Mother Country; and

WHEREAS We have witnessed with deep humiliation the appointing by the Executive of the State of Oregon of men to high places of trust and responsibility without regard to their fitness or moral worth; and

WHEREAS We have been unwilling witnesses to the sudden amassing of fortunes by our county and state officials; therefore be it

Resolved 1st That we favor a rigid [illegible] to the Constitution of the State of Oregon.

2d That we are diametrically opposed to all political rings and cliques believing them to be the hot bed from which have emanated all the evils of which we now complain and through which the will of the people is ever set aside.

3d That we recognize the fact that our only hope for the return of the good old days when county taxes were from five to seven mills on the dollar instead of seventeen lies in the selection of moral upright men whose interests are ours to represent us in county and State and that we will support such at the coming June election regardless of their previous political beliefs.

4th That we favor a reasonable and just compensation for the services of our public officials and no more; that the unjust and exorbitant fees paid to the Clerk and Sheriff of our county should be curtailed at least 50 per cent.

5th That we champion alike the interests of the mechanic the farmer and common laborer and that we invite all good men of whatever party or creed to join us in the fight for the right against political rings and unprincipled men.

6th That the delegates from this Convention be instructed to vote for no man in the County Convention for nomination as Representative in the Legislature unless he be in favor of the purchase by the State of the canal and locks at the Willamette falls at a [illegible] price.

7th That the thanks of this Convention [illegible] for his [illegible] in seeking to bring to [illegible] of the late Congressional election.

ALBANY March 28 1874

To the Editor of the Oregonian

The delegates elected to the County Convention which meets in Albany on Saturday April 4th were J Paxton, D M Cook, S Powell, G F Simpson, M C Callaway, J J Fanning, C H Fisher, I Smith and D M Thompson. They were all invited to address the Convention and although none of them were accustomed to speaking in public, each responded in a plain and forcible manner. It was indeed a proof of the saying that every man is [illegible] in what he understands.

During the remarks of Mr D M Cook who lives on a farm in the vicinity of Tangent he said: For myself I have resolved that from this time forward no political party shall be charged with [illegible] individual members but every man elected to office will be held personally responsible for his conduct. Such sentiments as those of Mr Cook are worthy a place in the platform of the State Convention. WM J MILLER Sec'y

The total number of Indians on the Umatilla Reservation is six hundred and eighty three. Some of the Indians cultivate a little ground but their chief occupation is that of raising horses. A cayuse horse lives here the year round on what he can pick, if he lives it all otherwise the noble red man lets him die.

Almost all persons in Umatilla county let their horses run out and pick their own living. Sometimes these horses fall in with the bands of cayuses belonging to the Indians and they never take any particular trouble to separate the horses belonging to the whites from those belonging to themselves and the consequence is that more than one horse is lost to the whites and never recovered.

There is a fair prospect of having a church edifice erected in Pendleton some time the coming season by the Methodist denomination. Four lots have been given by Col LaDow and $25 subscribed, and J H Turner has subscribed $25 and given 1,000 feet of lumber for that purpose and others whose names we have not yet learned have given in the aggregate 11,000 feet of lumber.

On March 20th D D W M Buick, assisted by officers Helman and Beeson of Ashland Grange, organized a Grange on Applegate Jackson county, with the following list of officers: Jas Buckley O; R Benedict L; John O Brien, S; John McKee, A S; [illegible] B Matney, Chap; John Buckley Treas; Wm Ray, Sec; Thos Mee, G K; M J Benedict Ceres; Sarah Chappell, Pomona; Mary S Ray, Flora; Sarah O Brien, L A S.

A fine flouring mill is now in process of construction, by H F Myers on City Falls about one mile above the mouth of Umatilla river. It is to be completed and in running order some time next June. It is 25x40 feet; height is 30 feet. It will have two run of burrs at first, but is so constructed that two more can easily be added. The machinery will be driven by a Turbine water wheel three feet in diameter making 150 revolutions per minute.

A gentleman writing from Alkali Lake Jackson county, March 14th, says: 'Cattle are dying in great numbers, and also sheep. Feed is about exhausted, many ranchmen being entirely out. Game is driven from the mountains to the foothills and valleys in considerable numbers.' One man killed eight antelope the other day in a few hours hunt. We have not probably seen anywhere near the end of winter, as it is snowing at this time. Another from Linkville, March 22d says: Our winter has been unusually severe. Loss of stock heavy; weather clear and slowly moderating, with the snow going off very slowly.

The Pendleton Tribune says: While hundreds of cattle have died during the past winter, because of the unusual severity of the weather sheep not only have not died to any great extent, but are actually in a thriving condition. Sheep can live on much less than cattle; their wool keeps them warm and shields them from the cold winds of winter, and when snow covers the ground they paw it off the grass and live well where a bovine would starve. We would prefer sheep all the time to cattle were it not that they are liable to contract certain infectious diseases which decimate the flock in a very short time. Umatilla county however is considered very healthy for sheep, and the general success which has thus far attended sheep raisers proves this opinion to be well founded.

W A Owen who arrived in Jacksonville from Elk creek last week, brings news of a fatal accident which resulted in the death of Hi Abbott. It seems that Hi and Al Winkle were engaged in dispatching a panther about 10 o'clock P M of the 23d which had been treed by the dogs. Abbott had shot the animal, which fell among the dogs and was punishing them severely. Winkle went to their relief and was getting the worst of it when he dropped his gun to grasp his knife for better warfare. The gun was cocked, and in falling went off accidentally shooting Hi. He called to Winkle that he had been hit but told him to save the hounds. These were the last words he uttered for when after killing the panther Winkle went to assist him, he found him dead, shot through the body.

The Jacksonville Sentinel is informed that early last fall one Jos Hendrick who had been pasturing fifty head of horses in the mountains started for a lower range with his band but was caught by the snows at a place known as Pelican Bay. Here he attempted to pass the winter as best he could, with little feed and no shelter for his stock. As the weather grew colder and the stock weaker and thinner he endeavored to relieve them by keeping as many as possible of the feeblest in his small house by turns. But starvation and the cold was too much for him. Every head perished and he then attempted to make his own escape through the Siberian cold over trackless wastes of snow of unknown depths. After suffering terribly, freezing his feet and hand he finally reached a place of safety almost in a state of destitution.

CURIOSITIES OF POLITICAL LITERATURE

The political conventions this spring develop a remarkable penchant for making platforms. Heretofore it usually has been deemed quite sufficient for the preliminary conventions to select delegates to represent the party in the State Convention, leaving to that body, which is supposed to contain the aggregate wisdom of the party, the work and the responsibility of announcing the party creed. However this has not been universal. On rare occasions the county conventions have suggested a platform to the State Convention by adopting one themselves. This spring the county conventions all adopt platforms, and even some of the precinct meetings have enlightened the country with their views on questions of national and State politics. This is probably the most direct means of arriving at the true sentiments of the people on any given subject, and is, therefore, to be commended. In a government based upon the theory of popular sovereignty, the voice of the people should be the voice of God to the lawmakers, and there is no way in which the people can make their voice heard without any accompaniment from the selfish demagogue unless it is through expression of sentiment in the popular assemblies, and even then it is to no inconsiderable extent a fiction that enables us to call the expression a true reflection of the feelings and opinions of the masses.

But while we regard this course as probably the best to be pursued, it not only produces some very amusing specimens of political literature, but sometimes places the party in whose interest the resolutions are passed in situations from which it is difficult to extricate them. This from the Clackamas County Convention, for instance:

> We believe that no man can be an honest and efficient public officer unless he be an honest, industrious, sober citizen, and we will support no man for public office unless his character for private integrity be unimpeachable.

This resolution is just the right thing, but think of its connections. The party that selects H W Scott for Collector of Customs and sends John Hipple to the U S Senate, declares it will support none but honest men for office. The party at whose hands Ben Simpson receives an important office, lectures the country on sobriety. Think of it a moment!

> Resolved, That we heartily endorse the principles of the Republican party as carried out by the present Administration.
> Resolved, That we are in favor of economy and retrenchment, and a just and fair compensation for officials in all offices.

In favor of "the principles of the Republican party as carried out by this Administration." This Administration is not carrying out the provisions of the Republican party. It is the old loco-foco politics over again in every particular: jobs, nepotism, extravagance, licentiousness such as characterized the reign of Buchanan. President Grant's first administration was a popular one, because it was reasonably honest and economical. The second is unpopular, because the President is in the hands of corrupt men, who deceive and mislead him, to the injury of the people and to the destruction of his party.

And then compare these two resolutions with each other. Endorse the way in which public affairs are now managed, and at the same time favor economy! That is a match for Grover's declaration of the herculean "struggle" in which he has been engaged for twenty-three years for the triumph of the principles of the Democratic party as defined by the Albany State Convention.

FOR PRINCIPLE ALONE

The ring Republican press has been loudly exhorting Republicans to stand by their party organization, and the ring Democratic press has not been less loud nor less earnest in urging upon the faithful the duty of preserving the Democratic organization. With an unction so very unctious as to give rise to a suspicion in some minds that it was sham the apostles of partyism have declared they had no interest in the matter except that of a desire to have the battle fought out "on principle." Most observing people have had the measure of these whippers in for some time, and it needs no argument or illustration to convince them that this outcry for principle by a set of office holders and office seekers is intended merely to deceive. The only principles for which they ever do any earnest sincere work are the seven great principles which John Randolph said actuated the Democratic party, namely five loaves and two fishes.

But if anything were wanting to prove that their professed devotion to principle is a sham and fraud, the condition of affairs in Douglas county furnishes that proof. The "straightouts," of both kinds ranted and raved at the people to keep them in the party traces, and took the initiatory steps to get out their party tickets as usual. But the people, not heeding their admonitions, went on with the movement to emancipate themselves from party slavery, till it became apparent that neither of the old parties would have the least chance of success against them, when suddenly a change came over the spirit of the average partisan's dream. The Republican had no principles so high that he would not give them up to defeat the people, and the Democrat was in the same condition. The Republican County Convention called to nominate a county ticket met last Saturday and selected delegates to the State Convention, but adjourned without making county nominations, and it is now understood that arrangements have been made between the "Straightouts" Democrat and Republican to unite their forces, divide the offices and endeavor by this means to defeat the people. Principle indeed! This fusion of acknowledged antagonists to keep the people from asserting their freedom from ring domination is an illustration of their attachment to the principles of their respective parties. It is just what was proposed in Polk county by some of the leading men of the Holladay-Hipple ring to a portion of the Democratic politicians, but the latter couldn't see where they or their party were to gain anything by it, and respectfully declined the alliance. We predict that on the day of election a considerable proportion of the ring Republicans will cast their votes for the Democratic State ticket, knowing there is no earthly show for the election of the railway ring ticket, and thinking they may beat the people by electing the Democratic ticket.

LIQUOR TRAFFIC COMMISSION

It will be recollected that last winter, soon after the opening of the present session of Congress, petitions were sent up from various sections of the Union praying the appointment of a Commission to investigate the traffic in alcoholic liquors in its relations to pauperism, crime, social vice, public health and the general welfare of the public. These petitions were all alike in every respect, and were signed some by individuals and some by religious and benevolent societies. The aggregate number of persons actually represented on them, it is said, exceeded a million. They could not be disregarded. A bill was prepared and introduced in the Senate providing for such a Commission as requested by the petitioners, and was referred, after two readings, to the Committee on Finance. On the 17th ult the Committee reported the bill with an amendment to strike out all of the enacting clause and insert instead thereof the following:

> That there shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, a Commission of five persons, neither of whom shall be the holder of any office of profit or trust in the General or State Government. The said Commissioners shall be selected solely with reference to personal fitness and capacity for an honest, impartial and thorough investigation, and shall hold office until their duties shall be accomplished, but not to exceed one year. It shall be their duty to investigate the alcoholic liquor traffic in its economic, criminal, moral and scientific aspects in connection with pauperism, crime, social vice, the public health and general welfare of the people; and also inquire and take testimony as to the practical results of license and restrictive legislation for the prevention of intemperance in the several States.
> SEC 2. That the said Commissioners serve without salary; shall be authorized to employ a Secretary at a reasonable compensation, not to exceed $2,000 per year, which, with the necessary expenses incidental to said investigation, of both the Secretary and Commissioners, shall be paid out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated upon vouchers to be approved by the Secretary of the Treasury, and the amount necessary is hereby appropriated. It shall be the further duty of said Commissioners to report the result of their investigation and the expenses attending the same to the President, to be by him transmitted to Congress.

The amendment proposed to change the bill somewhat in the manner of carrying out the purposes of the Commission, preserving the main object of the petitioners. Senator Ferry of Connecticut, opposed the bill on the ground that the subject is one that should be left to the States. He thought the object sought by these petitions was foreign to the duties and powers of the General Government. Mr Conkling of New York, appeared as the champion of the measure, insisting that legislation for the general welfare of the people is a duty of Congress, and also that the subject matter proposed to be investigated is intimately connected with the revenue system of the United States. After a good deal of discussion in which several other Senators took part pro and con, the bill went over since, when nothing has been heard of it.

It would appear at the first blush, that the appointment of such a Commission would be of but trifling importance, as it would tend in no direct way to suppress intemperance, which is manifestly the ultimate end sought to be attained by the petitioners. The miseries which this traffic entails upon the community, it will be thought, have been so often and so variously presented before the public mind that no official investigation is likely to result in arousing the country to a fuller realization of the magnitude of the evil. But a little reflection will show that this is not the case. The agitation has been measurably without organization, the statements of facts general and sweeping, and the illustrations mostly drawn from exceptional and extreme cases. Much has been accomplished in this way, but when a resort to legislation is contemplated the possession of authentic and accurate information will be a prerequisite. Something more than stump speech or even lecture room statements is required as the basis of laws that are to be of any value in a matter of this nature. The information to be obtained through the agency of the proposed commission would be of very great service to all State and local governments, as well as to the national, and that in various ways besides that for which it is mainly desired. It is to be hoped the commission will be created and will do its work thoroughly. Even if the matter should never proceed a step further in Congress than to obtain such a report and publish it to the world, much good will be accomplished.

A NIGHT'S ENTERTAINMENT SPOILED

We had not the pleasure of hearing the address of Governor Grover last Saturday evening and therefore cannot speak with the positiveness of an ear witness in regard to the same. But if we are correctly informed there were some things in it that deserve a passing notice. It is said the Governor got along swimmingly till Mr Arthur Laine, who is a large tax payer of this city and an unswerving Democrat, [illegible] a question or two at him relating to his past administration, which so stumped him that he was a long time recovering his equilibrium, and [illegible] into the groove he had laid out for him. His Excellency was dwelling at some length upon his struggles in the interest of economical government, when Mr Laine asked and obtained liberty to propound a question to him, and immediately demanded to know whether in case he were re-elected he would be for purchasing the locks, and whether he intended to continue the present unnecessarily expensive police force in this city. These interrogatories knocked the Governor's pins from under him. He made the best reply that could be made under the circumstances, but the incident spoiled the evening's entertainment.

The following extract from [illegible] in Congress [illegible] indicates the enormous profit realized under the corrupt Sanborn contracts and the labor required to make the same. The House Ways and Means Committee this afternoon examined J D Coughlan, who testified that he did all the work in collecting succession and legacy taxes in New York for Sanborn, receiving 12 per cent therefor; that he proposed to the Secretary of the Treasury months before the Sanborn contract was made to collect the taxes for 12 per cent commission; that Sanborn had [illegible] the information which he received from Wall [illegible]

So we are to have a new Territory. A Washington dispatch of March 26th says: The Senate Committee on Territories reported without amendment the bill of Senator [illegible] for the formation of the Territory of Pembina. The new Territory is to consist of that portion of Dakota which lies north of the [illegible] sixth parallel [illegible]. The line of the Northern Pacific Railroad runs through the proposed locality midway.

Senator Flanagan of Texas declared in the Senate the other day that the evil of intemperance is [illegible]. It is understood that our John H Hipple has been delegated to reply to this speech as he is supposed to be the only other person in the Senate who can beat Flanagan as a rhetorician.

We are assured on the most reliable authority that the Independent primaries at Salem were more numerously attended than both the party primaries together. This is the truth notwithstanding the Bulletin's correspondent to the contrary.

The Beverly Terror is said to be suffering from an attack of ague in the knees. The attack is supposed to have originated in nervousness on account of the possibility of those figures being published in detail.

The Independent primaries at Jefferson were the most enthusiastic precinct meetings that have been held there for years. The straightouts have no show in that region.

At both Gardiner and Scottsburg precincts in Douglas county the Republican primaries [illegible]. The people at those points [illegible] call for the Independent ticket.

Jackson county is reported [illegible] for 200 majority for the Independents at the present state of public sentiment and the revolution still gains strength.

POLK COUNTY CORRESPONDENCE

ANOTHER LETTER [illegible]

DALLAS March 28 1874

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The Republican County Convention was held here to-day. Following are the nominations: Representatives A M Smith, H Lindsey and Charles Graves; County Judge J L Collins; County Clerk W W Beach; Sheriff J B Riggs; Treasurer John James; School Superintendent J C Campbell.

It would not be just perhaps, to charge that there was design in selecting a ticket of such peculiar cast. Still, to the disinterested observer it is really strange that they should nominate with very few exceptions a regular Mitchell-Hipple ticket and those nominations confined to four precincts out of eleven, ignoring the other seven except for one or two minor offices. That they had as good men in the western precincts of the county no one can deny. Then in the name of reason why take A M Smith (Representative) and W W Beach (County Clerk) from Buena Vista; H Lindsey (Representative) and J C Campbell (School Superintendent) from Monmouth; Charles Graves (Representative) from Bethel and J L Collins (County Judge) J James (Treasurer) and J B Riggs (Sheriff) from Dallas precinct?

I do not wish to unjustly censure the conduct of any man or set of men, but judging from the complexion of the delegates and the action of the Convention your humble servant is forced to the conclusion that it was a regular put up Hipple job. Upon what other hypothesis can the people of this county account for the nomination of J L Collins over Wm Howe for County Judge? Uncle Billy Howe as he is familiarly called, is one of Polk county's best and noblest citizens; a man whose moral bearing and sterling integrity are almost proverbial; who in common practical sense is equal to that of any man among us, and yet he was beaten because, forsooth he did not belong to the ring. The honest voters of Old Polk may endorse that kind of thing, but I must say that I do not believe it. The Independent ticket is gaining strength every day.

More anon. VOTER

FROM ROSEBURG.

ROSEBURG March 28 1874

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The Independents had a rousing primary meeting at this place yesterday, which was well attended and much interest manifested. TUESDAY MORNING MARCH 31 1874

A LUCKY MAN.—That it is [illegible] gentlemen in this city [illegible] convinced. While [illegible] one of the back streets of this [illegible] a gentleman chanced [illegible] something wrapped [illegible] paper [illegible] package of greenbacks [illegible] the gentleman [illegible] found that the sum was $300 [illegible] liberally advertised what he had found [illegible] the money [illegible]. It turned out that the person losing the money was an emigrant who had arrived in the city only a very short time [illegible] all the means he possessed in the world. The poor man after discovering that he had lost his greenbacks was in great distress of mind as it left him penniless in a strange land, but his joy was equally as great on recovering the lost treasure. So overjoyed was this poor emigrant at his amazing good luck that he generously offered to share the money with the finder, but that gentleman declined to receive any reward, stating that he had simply discharged his duty and did not consider that straight forward honesty required compensation in that way, besides the finder told him that he (the emigrant) was a stranger here and would no doubt need every cent. After profuse demonstrations of gratitude the emigrant took the money and went on his way rejoicing. Two lucky men were thus made happy.

THE OTTER.—The new tug boat belonging to Fred [illegible], concerning which so much has been written, is at length finished ready for service and made the trial trip last Saturday. What the new craft should be called was a question over which Mr [illegible] sorely exercised [illegible] but at length a proper appellation was selected. It is either the [illegible] or [illegible], both of which names were spoken of with favor but simply the Otter. She is quite a neat appearing little craft, about 80 feet in length. She possesses considerable power, the boiler, engines and machinery formerly used in propelling the old Mary Bell having been transferred to the Otter. For her dimensions she will be one of the strongest boats on the river excepting of course the propellers [illegible] and [illegible]. The Otter will be used exclusively for the present as a tow boat. An upper cabin will probably be constructed this summer for the accommodation of passengers. On Sunday afternoon the Otter made her maiden trip down to the fisheries when everything was found to work in a highly satisfactory manner.

SOLD FOR A WHARF.—Mr G W Hume, the well known proprietor of the large fisheries down the river, has purchased the old and dilapidated hull of the Mary Bell, which he purposes to employ to good advantage in connection with his extensive establishment. All the machinery having been removed from the old hulk, it is Mr Hume's intention to convert the boat into a floating wharf. For this purpose the dismantled craft was towed down the river last Sunday afternoon to the fishery. There she will be beached and the hull repainted, recaulked, and the necessary repairs made. A new cabin will also be constructed. When ready for service the floating wharf will be moored in the river and moved from place to place to suit the convenience of the fishermen who will board and sleep on the old craft and ply their vocation. Salmon when caught in the seins can be hauled on board and afterwards conveyed to the canning establishments in small boats. This will be a very convenient arrangement.

FIRE—DEFECTIVE FLUE.—The clanging of bells about 11 o'clock yesterday morning drew out the entire Fire Department. There was a general rush to the corner of First and Washington streets. In less than five minutes the crowd was so large and the excitement so great that a stranger would have imagined that a whole block was being destroyed by the fire fiend. [This is not original.] [illegible] smoke from the roof of Dekum's building, and a peculiar smell indicated that it was nothing more than a defective flue that caused such a fuss. The application of salt water and other remedies for fighting [illegible] the desired effect, and the fire laddies were [illegible] with playing the streams over the [illegible] with a big scare and little loss to all concerned.

COMPLAINED OF BITTERLY.—We are in receipt of a letter signed "Many Citizens," in which the discharge of cannon at the corner of Yamhill and Eighth streets last Saturday evening, in honor of Gov Grover [illegible] is spoken of in the strongest terms of condemnation. The communication [illegible] that it is an outrage which ought to [illegible] prevent its repetition. [illegible] children [illegible] frightened [illegible] knocked [illegible] by the roar and jar [illegible] the discharge of the guns. Much dissatisfaction [illegible] by many [illegible] vicinity. They very properly think that when salutes are to be fired the guns should be removed beyond the city limits.

REFRESHMENTS SERVED.—For the accommodation of the ladies who have been and are still engaged in the temperance crusade, the room to the rear of the basement of the Taylor street church have been [illegible] a temporary kitchen. Refreshments in [illegible] line are prepared and served up to those who are participants in the prayer meeting exercises and those who visit them [illegible] engaged actively in prosecuting the present warfare against intemperance. Whatever is required [illegible] refreshment [illegible] abundance. It is certainly a very [illegible] arrangement for supplying the [illegible] of the [illegible] during the [illegible] incessant labors.

TUESDAY MORNING, MARCH 31, 1874

CITY.

A LUCKY MAN.—That it is better to be born lucky than rich two gentlemen in this city are now pretty thoroughly convinced. While walking along one of the back streets of the city last Sunday a certain gentleman chanced to espy a small package of something wrapped in loosely in a piece of paper. Carelessly picking it up he began to tear away the covering, to a certain what was inside. Judge of his surprise on tearing away one corner to discover that he had picked up a package of greenbacks. With a very nervous and excited hand the gentleman began to count the money and found that there were $1,300 in denominations ranging from $50 downward. Honesty is always the best policy reason the lucky finder. "I will advertise the money," said the gentleman mentally, "and if no person shall appear to claim the greenbacks then I can conscientiously keep them myself." He did as directed by his convictions of honesty, and liberally advertised what he had found. Yesterday a person came and presented himself to the finder, claimed the money, and after having given unmistakable evidences of ownership in minutely describing the greenbacks, the sum was promptly handed over. It turned out that the person losing the money was an emigrant who had arrived on these shores only a very short time. The sum lost and which was so fortunately recovered, was all the means he possessed in the world. The poor man after discovering that he had lost the greenbacks was in great distress of mind as it left him penniless in a strange land, but his joy was equally as great on recovering the lost treasure. So overjoyed was this poor emigrant at his amazing good luck, that he generously offered to share the money with the finder, but that gentleman declined to receive any reward, stating that he had simply discharged his duty, and did not consider that straightforward honesty required compensation in that way, besides the finder told him that he (the emigrant) was a stranger here and would no doubt need every cent. After profuse demonstrations of gratitude, the emigrant took the money and went on his way rejoicing. Two lucky men were thus made happy.

THE OTTER.—The new tug boat belonging to Fred. Congdon concerning which so much has been written is at length finished ready for service, and made the trial trip last Saturday. What the new craft should be called was a question over which Mr Congdon sorely cudgeled his brain but at length a proper appellation was selected. It is neither the Cordelia nor Clyde, both of which names were spoken of with favor, but simply the Otter. She is quite a neat appearing little craft about 80 feet in length. She possesses considerable power, the boiler, engines and machinery formerly used in propelling the old Mary Bell having been transferred to the Otter. For her dimensions she will be one of the strongest boats on the river excepting of course the propeller tugs Astoria, Merrimac, Ben Holladay and Brenham. The Otter will be used exclusively for the present as a tow boat. An upper cabin will probably be constructed this summer for the accommodation of passengers. On Sunday afternoon the Otter made her maiden trip down to the fisheries, when everything was found to work in a highly satisfactory manner.

SOLD FOR A WHARF.—Mr G. W. Hume the well known proprietor of the large fisheries down the river has purchased the old and dilapidated hull of the Mary Bell which he purposes to employ to good advantage in connection with his extensive establishment. All the machinery having been removed from the old hulk, it is Mr Hume's intention to convert the boat into a floating wharf. For this purpose, the dismantled craft was towed down the river last Sunday afternoon to the fishery. There she will be beached and the hull repainted, re-caulked, and the necessary repairs made. A new cabin will also be constructed. When ready for service, the floating wharf will be moored in the river, and moved from place to place to suit the convenience of the fishermen, who will board and sleep on the old craft, and ply their vocation. Salmon when caught in the seins can be hauled on board and afterwards conveyed to the canning establishments in small boats. This will be a very convenient arrangement.

FIRE—DEFECTIVE FLUE.—The clanging of bells about 11 o'clock yesterday morning drew out the entire Fire Department. There was a general rush to the corner of First and Washington streets. In less than five minutes the crowd was so large and the excitement so great that a stranger would have imagined that a whole block was being devoured by the "fire fiend." [This is not original.] A curling smoke from the roof of Dekum's large building and a peculiar smell indicated that it was nothing more than a defective flue that caused such a fuss. The application of salt, water and other remedies brought about the desired effect, and the fire laddies were content with playing the streams over the streets. It was a big scare and little loss to all concerned.

COMPLAINED OF BITTERLY.—We are in receipt of a letter signed "Many Citizens," in which the discharge of cannon at the corner of Yamhill and Eighth streets last Saturday evening in honor of Gov. Grover's opening speech is spoken of in the strongest terms of condemnation. The communication states that it is an outrage which ought to be severely rebuked to prevent repetition. Women and children were frightened, invalids much disturbed, vases knocked down ... injured by the roar and jar ... the discharge of the guns. Much dissatisfaction is felt and expressed by many citizens in that vicinity. They very properly think that when salutes are to be fired, the guns should be removed beyond the city limits.

REFRESHMENTS SERVED.—For the accommodation of the ladies who have been and are still engaged in the temperance crusade, the rooms to the rear of the basement of the Taylor Street Church have been converted into a temporary kitchen. Refreshments in the edible line are prepared and served up to those who are participants in the prayer meetings, etc., and those who visit the saloons and are engaged actively in prosecuting the present warfare against intemperance. Whenever required, these refreshments are served up in abundance. It is certainly a very excellent arrangement for supplying the wants of the body during these periods of hard and constant labors.

MEETING OF THE BAR.—On the receipt of the announcement of the death of Charles E. Warren in the United States District Court a meeting of the bar was held yesterday morning. Ex-Gov. A. C. Gibbs was chosen Chairman of the meeting, and P. M. Denny ... Secretary. On motion a committee of five persons was appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting in relation to the death of their late associate and professional brother Charles E. Warren. On motion the meeting adjourned until this morning at 10 o'clock, when the committee on resolutions is expected to report. It is desirable that there should be as full a representation of the ... as possible.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.—On the ... in the Circuit Court yesterday ... resolutions, adopted at a meeting of the Bar ... in reference to the death of the late H... Logan were read and on motion ... In conformity to the usual custom the Clerk was required to spread the resolution on the journal of the Court. On the motion ... eloquent and appropriate tribute were paid to the memory of the ... Hon ... Dolph and J. F. Caples ... the departed Court adjourned ... day.

PROSPECT OF HIGH WATER.—The ... Register says: "There is every ... anticipate high water this season ... confirm the fall of snow on the upper mountains to be far greater than has been known for years. At this time last year the Columbia river was much higher than at present, the warm weather melted the snows gradually and the surplus waters had time to escape but no such opportunity has occurred this season. All that snow must come through the Columbia river channel."

NO COURT.—In consequence of the illness of Judge Denny, there was no Police Court held yesterday morning. Eight cases comprising drunks, assault and battery, disorderly conduct, fast driving and a felony were, in consequence, postponed until this morning.

AMONG THE SALOONS.—Delegations of ladies were out yesterday among the saloons of the city again. In the course of the day a number of these places were visited, songs were rendered and prayers offered up. So far as we learn these ladies were accorded very courteous treatment at the hands of the saloon keepers. There appears to be no abatement of determined purpose on the part of these zealous champions of the temperance cause. To-day we learn the ladies will be out in greatly augmented force. Recruits are earnestly called for to enlist in the warfare.

BREAKING GROUND.—The ceremony of breaking ground for the new parsonage to be erected on the vacant lot adjoining Trinity Church on the corner of Fifth and Oak streets will take place this morning, the Rt. Rev. Bishop Morris officiating. The Building Committee, members of the Vestry and congregation generally are hereby invited to be present and take part in the services which will take place at 11 o'clock immediately after morning prayer.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED.—In the Circuit Court yesterday Messrs. W. W. Page, J. N. Dolph and J. F. Caples were appointed a Committee on Resolutions in relation to the death of Mr Warren. This Committee as we understand will act in conjunction with the one appointed in the U. S. District Court to draft resolutions expressive of the feelings of the members of the Bar in regard to the death of one of its most esteemed and prominent members.

TEMPERANCE MEETING AT LEE'S CHAPEL.

Agreeable to previous announcement a temperance meeting was held at Lee's Chapel on the evening of March 22d which was well attended.

After a few preliminary remarks the meeting was called to order. Rev C. Kelly was chosen Chairman and R. Kelly Secretary. The meeting was then addressed by Messrs C. P. Yates, H. Kelly, J. W. Kern and others with a good degree of earnestness and zeal in behalf of the temperance cause and who expressed a decided sentiment in favor of taking the most reliable measures possible to procure a temperance Legislature at the coming June election. There was also a strong expression of approbation and sympathy in the late temperance movement conducted by the noble womanhood in and around Portland.

On motion C. Kelly was unanimously elected as a delegate to the State Temperance Convention to be held in Portland.

The Secretary was then ordered to furnish each of the leading Portland papers with a copy of the proceedings of this meeting.

Owing to the apparent interest of the meeting it was decided prudent to appoint another for Saturday evening April 11th. No other business being brought forward, the meeting adjourned.

TEMPERANCE MEETING LAST EVENING.

The Union Temperance Prayer Meeting at the Taylor Street Church last evening was numerously attended and a good degree of interest was maintained throughout. The usual order of exercises was somewhat modified and most of the evening was devoted to relating of individual experiences among a number present. This evening the regular meeting will be continued at the same place. The subject of "Wine Drinking," both in the Old World and America, its effects, tendencies and also the Biblical bearing on the matter will be thoroughly analyzed and discussed this evening. The public are cordially invited to attend.

Neither the Arcadians or Pioneers did anything startling last evening. The members of the former Club met and that was all there was of it. They meet again Thursday evening. ROTHSCHILD AND BARING

Apropos of the late Baron Meyer De Rothschild recently deceased, it will be interesting to relate an anecdote vouched for by Mr John Cannan, who was for many years chief cashier to the firm of Baring Brothers in London, according to which it was Baron Meyer who was associated with old Anthony De Rothschild, in promoting the run upon Baring Brothers which early in the present century menaced for a time that important house with calamity. Jealousy arising out of some large European financial operation in the concession of which Baring Brothers had obtained the preference is supposed to have motived the conspiracy by which the Rothschilds contemplated sweeping a troublesome rival from their path. Certain it is that after manipulating the London and continental money markets in such a fashion as to afford a specious excuse for the measure the Rothschilds succeeded in depositing on call at Baring Brothers the sum of £1,000,000 in their own notes and within a moderate period of such deposit excited by means of agents of their own such strong suspicion of the stability of the latter firm in all the great money centers of Europe as to precipitate a run upon it. Those were the olden days of paying money by tale—weighing out coin was unpracticed—and for five days Baring Brothers kept paying as fast as the clerks could count out coin to the depositors. The Queen Dowager Adelaide among others, banked with the Barings, and her equery Colonel Bosanquet was instructed to give the bank three days notice of withdrawal of her account amounting to £100,000. Baring Brothers paid the whole amount at once to Colonel Bosanquet with the intimation of their respectful duty to her Majesty, but Baring Brothers did not require three minute's notice previous to paying £100,000." When the run had lasted five days, the Rothschilds hoping to lay on the last feather that was to break the camel's back drew out the million they had deposited, but were no less astonished than mortified by receiving it back in the precise form in which it had been deposited.

The result of a notification posted on the doors of the bank that Baring Brothers were prepared to meet the run for three days longer, at the end of which time, if confidence in their solvency remained shaken, they would close the doors, coupled with their authenticated bank statement showing that during the continuance of the panic they had actually paid three and three quarter millions of pounds, stemmed the tide of distrust, and the bank was saved. The Barings had not only received timely warning of the conspiracy, but were able to bring it home to Anthony De Rothschild, who was glad to avoid legal proceedings at the cost of £200,000—the amount at which Baring Brothers assessed the loss they had sustained in realizing securities to prepare for the foreseen run.

ARREST OF A CALIFORNIA LOBBYIST.—There was quite an excitement in the House and in the lobby last night concerning the arrest of Converse, the circumstances connected with which are reported elsewhere. Converse has been a constant attendant in the lobby during the whole of the session and his arrest will have a wholesome effect in putting down a pernicious system of drawing money from strangers to legislative matters whose business necessitates a visit to Sacramento. The charge against him is very serious. It is alleged that he threatened Cogswell the portrait painter that unless he paid him $400 he, Converse, would defeat the passage of the bill for the purchase of the gubernatorial portraits. Also that he told the people named Clark and Johnson that if they would give him $100 he would get Parker to cease favoring the swamp land bill of Klotz. Converse also tried the assurance to approach Creed Haymond, requiring him to come down with $200 for lobbying through the bill providing for payment of salaries to Code Commissioners.

Converse, after arrest by Conroy, Assistant Sergeant at arms was brought before the bar of the House and at his own request was remanded back to the custody of that officer to answer the charge before the bar of the House this morning at eleven.—Sacramento ... Bulletin, March 24.

A MOTHER KILLED BY GRIEF

The Indianapolis Sentinel gives the following account of an incident which happened at ... Crawfordsville, Ind., on Saturday last. The depot had been broken into that noon and some money and a quantity of tickets stolen from the office ... things generally upset by a party of boys. Warrants were issued, and among them one for a boy named Mike McNeil. At about midnight the McNeil family were called up by the officers of the law, and informed that the boy Mike was wanted at the same time reading the warrant. Mrs McNeil was astounded, and said there must be a mistake. None of her boys would be guilty of theft. She knew that it was all a mistake. Her feelings overcame her and she fainted. The officers, however, bearing the warrant had no other course to pursue but to demand the boy. The mother again fainted, and when she was restored to consciousness, the officers agreed to let the boy remain until they had seen the party by whom the warrant had been sworn out. If "Mike" proved to be the one they would return to the house; if not he would, of course, not be arrested. The officers found, however, that except in name "Mike" was not the boy. The real culprit was Mike McNeil, a cousin of the former. The officers returned to gladden as they supposed the mother's heart by telling her the boy was innocent. To their horror they reached the house and found Mrs McNeil dead. The shock and grief combined had been so great as to kill her. The affair caused considerable excitement in town.

An advertisement of a medicine however candid and conscientious it may be does not always carry conviction with it. The public know to their sorrow that the boastful claims put forth in behalf of many so-called remedies are literally a delusion and a snare. We earnestly request all doubters to ascertain from such of their friends and neighbors as have taken this standard tonic and alterative as a protection against malarious diseases or as a cure for indigestion, liver complaint, constipation, rheumatism, nervous debility, headache, low spirits, languor, biliousness, &c., what Hostetter's Bitters has done for them. TUESDAY MORNING, MARCH 31 1874.

A DETROIT KETTLE-DRUM

A wealthy gentleman of Detroit went away with his family recently leaving some colored servants to take care of his house during their absence. The results are told by the Toledo (Ohio) Commercial, which, however seems to have a rather crude idea of 'Kettle Drums.' "After they had been gone a few days," it says "the negroes thought they would indulge in a little high life at the expense of the owner of the premises. Accordingly, they invited Sambo and his lady, Jim and his girl, Cicero and Mrs Cicero, Cæsar and his wife, and various other gentlemen and ladies of the 'first families' of the village opposite Windsor, to attend a 'Kettle Drum' at the aforesaid residence. The doors were thrown open, the piano uncovered, the wine decanters brought out and pound-cake with frosting scattered around like falling leaves in Autumn. In short, the 'cullud' visitors at that mansion had a romping time and before they finished up the carnival of the evening some of the ladies helped themselves to the wearing-apparel bonnets, ribbons jewelry, &c, of the lady of the house and not satisfied with these added another feature to the 'Kettle Drum' and proceeded to rifle the bureau drawers, trunks and other private places in the building, taking therefrom various sums of money. The party broke up about day break, all agreeing that it was one of the most pleasant occasions of the season. Every sweet has its bitter, however and in a few days the gentleman and lady returned to find their house looking as if a whirlwind had been through it. They discovered the cause of this plight, and made complaint to the Police. The detectives have been at work, and a night or two since a dispatch was sent here from Detroit requesting the Toledo Police to arrest a colored man. He was caught in a low den by detective Burbanks, and last night the same officer arrested a colored damsel, (one of the party,) who is charged with stealing $70 from the house. She also had on a hat belonging to the lady of the house. Detective O'Neil, from Detroit, arrived last night to take them to the city."

DOUBLE MURDER AND SUICIDE IN PARIS.

Galignani's Messenger, under date of Feb 16, says: "A horrible crime has just been discovered in the Rue Montyon, in Paris. At No. 8 in that street resided a married couple name Cozonat, with their daughter Ann, aged 21. The husband was a stoker to the Water Company, and in receipt of good wages, while the daughter earnd 4 francs a day as dressmaker. About three weeks ago the house porter remarked that he had seen nothing of the Cozonat's for some days, but he took no steps to ascertain the cause of their disappearance. For the past week an unpleasant smell had been remarked to proceed from their department, and at length it became so offensive that the concierge gave notice to the Commissary of Police in order to have the rooms opened. An entry having been effected, the bodies of the three persons were found in a state of putrefaction. The husband was sitting in a chair, and on the ground near him lay a revolver, three barrels of which had been discharged. The wife and daughter were side by side on the bed, and all three had wounds showing that they had met with a violent death. The decomposition was such that the corpses were black and tumefied, and when the attempt was made to remove that of the young woman, the arm dropped from the body. It is supposed that the man had first shot his wife, and then gone to fetch his daughter from the shop at which she worked, so as to murder her also, as the last time that any of the family had been seen alive was one afternoon, when these two were seen to return together. The two crimes consummated, he had shot himself. The reports of the firing appear not to have been heard, and what seems to be more extraordinary is that no inquiry should have been made as to the cause of the absence of the father and daughter from their places of employment."

EXPLOSION OF GIANT POWDER AT HOOSAC TUNNEL

A dispatch from North Adams, March 6 says a terrible explosion of giant powder, No 1, occurred at the west shaft of the Hoosac tunnel at 11 o'clock this morning. The force of the concussion was heard and perceptibly felt some distance in the adjacent country. James Mullany, workman, in attempting to warn his companions of the danger, was almost instantly killed. Patrick Donnelly, while endeavoring to prevent the catastrophe, received fearful, and probably fatal injuries. William Richards and others were more or less bruised. The building containing the explosives was shattered to pieces, and even the earth beneath was torn in an awful manner. A number of men were thrown down and buried in the ruins. Considerable damage was done to the adjacent buildings. The cause of the action was spontaneous combustion of the Brown patent exploders, which communicated to the powder. About two hundred pounds of powder were thus exploded, making two distinct concussions. John Green was blasting near the building with a can of about sixty pounds of nitro-glycerine in his hand, and being warned by Mullany he with great coolness carried it to a place of safety.

AN AWFUL HORROR

A WOMAN BURIED ALIVE—FEARFUL STRUGGLES IN THE COFFIN.

Information was received in Pittsburg recently that a terrible horror has just been unearthed at Chapmanville. Two weeks ago a woman named Martha Coggswell, wife of Anthony Coggswell, a drover, died, as was supposed, in the village named, and was buried. Her husband was absent at the time. His first knowledge of his wife's death was on Thursday last, when he returned home. Almost wild with grief, he insisted on her body being exhumed so that he could see the remains. This was done, and the coffin was opened in the presence of several friends. To the unutterable horror of all the body had changed its position in the coffin, showing that Mrs. Coggswell had been buried while she was in a trance. The body was lying on its face. Evidence of a fearful struggle made by the unfortunate woman when she recovered consciousness in the coffin was visible. The flesh was torn from one shoulder, and the shroud was covered with blood. When Mr Coggswell saw what a terrible fate his wife had met he fell senseless across the coffin, and has been a raving maniac ever since.

A GUEST OF WOODWARD'S SEEMS SICK.—The voracious shark, of the man-eating species, lately secured by Woodward and placed on exhibition at his suburban gardens, pines for his natural diet and is fast losing his accustomed gayety; the sweet ham bone and club sausage seemingly have no attractions for him and the sole method of reviving his drooping spirits and thereby prolonging his existence, is found in the exhibition of a plump infant on the edge of the tank. The eye of the shark sparkles with delight as he sees the dainty morsel, and the few moments of blissful anticipation which fall to his lot acts as a tonic to his wasting system the whole day long.—S F Bulletin.

It seems [illegible] Congress [illegible] take one step affecting the vexed currency question by [illegible] the legal tender [illegible] $400,000,000. Although we believe a great majority of business men are opposed to any inflation of the currency it is admitted to be better even to have the reserve of $44,000,000 thrown upon the country than to stand in the attitude of [illegible] which the trade of [illegible] the action of a blundering Congress as it has wandered through the intricate mazes of financial systems and commercial problem. But the action now proposed will be far from satisfying certain Southern and Western members who seem bent on opening the flood gates of inflation. They insist that their section should have double the amount of currency now allotted without stopping to reflect that if they had it they could not keep it a week. They cannot be made to understand that the circulation governed by a law that Congress did not enact and which Congress can neither repeal nor suspend, that money will go where it is most needed and that nothing can prevent it. With inflation or without it the currency of the country will tend to places where the great transactions of trade go on—where capital is most engaged in commerce and manufactures.

The Tonnage Question.

The heavy shipments of grain and flour from the Pacific coast during the past two years has attracted great attention toward this part of the world and it is stated that preparations are making for the dispatch of a large number of ships for this coast from all parts of the world. Many vessels have already been chartered to arrive including the City of Brooklyn, Columbia and Ivanhoe now loading coal at English ports for South America. The R P Buck and St. Charles, now loading at New York—the former for Callao and the latter for San Francisco—have secured charters to load wheat at San Francisco for Liverpool at 80s with 2s 6d advance to Cork and 5s advance to the Continent. The bark Clara now loading at New York for Buenos Ayres has been taken to load Wheat at this port for Liverpool at 87s 6d. A British bark now loading at Boston for Valparaiso and a British ship bound from the United Kingdom to Rio have been taken to load here for Cork at [illegible] also the British bark Enchantress and Windward—the former on the way from Baltimore to Liverpool and the latter from St Mary's to the river Platte—have accepted charters for similar business at 97s 6d. The latest New York advices report about 20,000 tons of tonnage at that port engaged for San Francisco. There has been also another ship of 1,060 tons reported as chartered to load here, the name of which we did not learn. The R P Buck now on the berth at New York for Callao has been chartered from San Francisco to Liverpool at [illegible] or to the United Kingdom via Cork at 87s 6d, with 5s extra to the Continent. With a continuance of the present favorable outlook for the wheat crop the supply of tonnage cannot be too large.

Miscellaneous.

Tacoma, Olympia, Seattle, Port Townsend, Esquimalt, Coos Bay, Crescent City and for aught we know Tillamook all claim to be the best location for the operation of the large ship building corporation now being organized in the East.

New York advices of March 21st say: Railroad, Telegraph and Pacific Mail stocks are held with apparent confidence and carried by cheap money on the calculation that better prices will come later in the season, when the currency questions have been settled.

Increased arrivals of tonnage at New York have served to precipitate a further decline and the Atlantic freight market is in a somewhat demoralized condition. Petroleum freights have fallen to 5@6 shillings per barrel according to port and size of vessel; grain to Cork for orders to 6a7 shillings per quarter, with a quarter or less decline in other trades.

The reports from the Columbia river indicate a prosperous season in the salmon catching business and the product in that branch of trade this year will run up to many thousands of dollars in excess of any former season.

The action of Congress in voting for an increase of currency is generally condemned by the state of the money markets. There is a plentiful supply of currency in all the leading financial centers. In New York money is a drug on call at 3a4 per cent against 7 per cent a year ago. The Boston banks are carrying large balances for want of borrowers. In Philadelphia the supply is so plentiful that borrowers virtually dictate their own terms. Cincinnati reports a light demand for discounts and large reserves. There is an accumulation of money in Chicago and real estate loans are lower than usual. Money is abundant at New Orleans with but little doing.

The Mark Lane Express says that the extraordinary mildness of the season has continued with some increase of rain and fog though with fine intervals sufficient to permit the continuance of field work. Such a state of things has served to check the upward movement of prices as imports continue to be practicable where never expected for the mild ness has not been limited to England but has reached to St. Petersburg and Odessa from which latter place shipments are still made commensurate with the new supplies. These, therefore with others from the Baltic continually dropping in will prevent the early reduction of stocks and keep millers well supplied.

According to the consolidated returns of Western packing for the season closed on the 1st instant as compiled by the Superintendent of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, there is a net deficit in the aggregate weight of 108,000,000 pounds. The exports from six leading Atlantic ports from November 1 to March [illegible] 1873-74 were 2[illegible] pounds short of the aggregate shipments for the season of 1872-3. According to the showing therefore the stock of provisions on that date should have been about 7[illegible] pounds lighter than in 1873 and by later export returns about 71,000,000 pounds lighter on the 10th inst than on March 10 1873. The product of Lard was [illegible] pounds lighter than in the previous season and the export from November 1st to March 1, was 2[illegible] pounds short so that the stock of Lard is probably about 2,000,000 pounds less than at the corresponding date of 1873.

The S F Chronicle of the 25th March says: Wheat vessels continue to arrive in numbers in ports of the United Kingdom which is no doubt by the main cause of the recent heavy decline. On the same day the ship Leon Crespo arrived at Queenstown hence November 26th, the bark Mary Boulton hence November [illegible] th and ship John Bryce hence November 21th both arrived at the same port. The ship Fifeshire from Portland Oregon likewise got in the same port. The cargoes of these vessels amounted to over [illegible] tons. The grain which composed these cargoes was purchased in this market when it was at the highest and if not sold prior to arrival the shippers will sustain serious losses on their venture. As most of the cargoes of Wheat hence to the United Kingdom are sold before they reach their destination it is likely that no great loss will fall on local exporters but the Englishmen will suffer some.

Wheat and Flour Shipments

Shipments of wheat and flour from Portland since August 1, 1873 have been 45 cargoes embracing 1,426,152 bushels wheat valued at $1,176,0[illegible] and 210,784 quarter sacks flour valued at $352,[illegible]. Total value on shipboard $2,528,140. For the same period in 1872-3 flour shipments were 22 cargoes consisting of 701,507 bushels wheat and 18,000 quarter sacks flour of an aggregate value of $942,[illegible]. In 1871-72 the shipments in the same direction were 10 cargoes aggregating 300,410 bushels wheat valued at $[illegible]. Shipments to San Francisco since August 1st of last year have been 516,010 bushels wheat and 331,748 sacks flour in 1873-74 against 80,160 bushels wheat, and 232,375 sacks flour in 1872-73. The total shipments of wheat and flour from Oregon this year have been of the value of upwards of $3,000,000.
